

Section 3

Countywide Census Indexes

There have been many census indexes prepared by local genealogical groups or individuals, in most cases, published for one U.S. county. A review of the countywide federal census indexes that can be found at the Family History Library in Salt Lake City are shown below. These census indexes are separate from any statewide indexes described in the previous section. However, these county indexes can give a genealogical researcher an alternate compiled list of names for a particular county in the United States.

Shown below are just those states and counties for which a countywide published census index exists, with the census year and Family History Library (FHL) call number for a book or microform publication. Most of the publications identified below were gathered for a special project conducted by staff members of the Family History Library in 1986. A comprehensive review of census indexes for any other counties published since 1986 was not completed for this list.
